

The Hunt For The Sun Stone

by 4B(21) Ella, Pun Zi Xin

I suggest you use a dictionary, there are some words that you might not understand
There's only some pictures in this book and this book is fiction so nothing here is real

Legend says that a long time ago at the snowy mountains, where the sun never existed, lived two sisters named Annie and Emily. Although they are sisters, they have very different personalities. Emily is very wise but shy too, Annie is brave but never thinks about her decision wisely.

Living in the snowy mountains was very difficult, people who lived there were always freezing and starving. Each year, many people passed away from frostbite because of the cold.

One day, they are in the library, their favorite place when Emily finally found the book she wanted! " Yes! Now I just need to follow the map on the book and we'll find the sun stone!" Emily cried in delight!

Annie looked at the map and smiled as bright as the sun," Sounds like a great idea! Who's ready for an adventure?I am!" Annie said with excitement.

"Okay calm down sis, we have the map but we need to make an excuse for our parents to go to the quest." Emily said quietly. After that, Emily and Annie were sitting around the fire and thinking of an excuse.

"Maybe we want to look for warmth? Or maybe we want to build new homes on the other side?" Annie said. "I never made an excuse before, this is so hard!" Annie added.

"I know! Maybe we should just tell the truth! Since we can't make any excuses" Emily said "No way! They won't let us for sure!" Annie rejected. "You never know, maybe they will let us go on the quest!" Emily said determined.

Eventually, they borrowed the book and went home to tell their parents. "And yea, we think we can bring the Sun Stone to Snowy Mountains and bring warmth!" Annie said nervously "Sure, you can go on the The hunt for the Sun Stone, but please be careful, I heard there are many traps there. Their mother said sincerely.

Annie and Emily went off the next day determined and scared, for they don't know what is waiting for them in their adventure...

After a few days walking around the ginormous mountains, they finally reached a huge temple made from the purest gold and decorated with rubies, sapphire, emeralds and diamonds, "Wow this place is full of gems and gold!" Annie said while admiring the beautiful gems.

"Annie, focus! We didn't cross rivers and walked through caves just to admiring stunning stones,we need to find the Sun Stone so..."Emily said when suddenly the door to the temple opened,fearing nothing, Emily and Annie went inside.

The hallway was dark and spooky, giving Emily goosebumps all over her, but Annie wasn't afraid at all! She bravely held up her torch to light the way.

After walking for a few minutes, they finally reached the centre of the temple, Annie blew out the torch she was holding tight. Then she walked around while Emily was just staring at a pillar! Annie kept walking around until she stepped on a pressure plate

"Hmm what does this do?" She ask herself. Thinking it was nothing, she stepped out of the pressure plate and was about to ask what her sister Emily was doing when a net fell down and caught Annie " Ahhh!" Annie cried afraid.

"Annie!" Emily cried while running towards her sister,"are you okay?" she asked nervously"yes I am, but I'm stuck" Annie replied with a frown. After hearing what Annie said, Emily pulled a little needle out of her bag and slowing but firmly started to pull out the string that was connecting the whole net

"Phew, thanks sis" Annie thanked Emily, then she curiously walked to a door with some strange unknown language written on it "Look sis!" Annie said to Emily while pointing at the words

When Emily saw the words, she ran to the pillar she was studying and saw the exact same words on the pillar. "So that's why you were studying that pillar!" Annie cried. "Yes, but still we don't know what the message means. Wait..." Emily said in confusion when she remember she had placed a book with all languages in her bag. She took it out and showed it to her sister.

"Hmm let's look at the first symbol..." Emily said while flipping through pages. "It's here!" Annie said pointing towards the book. "The secret language of the citizens of the Sun..." Emily whispered, then she went to the dictionary of this language and found what the words meant.

"Look for a hole hidden in the gate of a soul..." Emily said, "It's a riddle!" Annie figured out. "But what does 'the gate of a soul' mean?" Annie asked, "I don't know..." Emily said, feeling hopeless. "Don't worry sis, we'll solve the riddle together." Annie said calmly. "How'd you know I was feeling hopeless?" Emily asked shocked, Annie said "From your eyes" while putting her hand on Emily's.

Emily then looked around and saw a statue of a phoenix and looked into its eyes and saw little holes, then Emily walked around and saw two gems, one was as red as a burning flame, the other one was as blue as the ocean. Emily picked the both of the gems and gave the red one to Annie. "What are these for?" Annie asked curiously.

"I'm not sure but put this stone into the phoenix's eye" Emily said. Annie walked to the statue and placed the red gem into the phoenix's eye and backed off. Then Emily placed the blue gem into the hole, then suddenly the room lid up and they got taken to a new room with thousands of spectacular stones including Lapis, Diamonds, Emeralds, Rubies and a huge Amber shaped as the Sun in the middle.

"I think that Amber is what we're looking for!" Annie said pointing to the massive gem, "But it's so big?" Emily said. After Emily was done speaking, a nymph have appeared. The nymph was wearing a beautiful yellow dress with a tiara decorated with sparkly yellow spheres, her eyes were big and bright, her mouth was the size of a cherry.

"Welcome to the room of value, why are you here?" The nymph said gently, "we're here to find the Sun Stone so..." Annie said before she got interrupted by the nymph "So you're one of those! No! You can't take it!" the nymph said annoyed. "Why can't we take the stone?" Emily asked.

"I should be asking since I'm the guardian." the nymph said "Anyway, why do YOU want the stone." the nymph demanded, "We need the stone so we can bring warmth and light to our land." Emily said. "Is that so?" the nymph asked suspiciously, "Yes it is." Annie said

The Nymph stared at the two sisters for a long time and the finally spoke "Well if that's the case! You may take the Sun Stone, sorry for the rude behavior earlier. The nymph said with a smile, "apology accepted!" Annie said happily "But how do we transfer this HUGE crystal back to our home?" Emily asked the nymph.

Without saying a word, the nymph waved her hands and a wand appeared in a flash! The nymph waved the wand and said "Wave-adicanto!" After saying the magic words, the gem had shrink into only a few inches small. Then the nymph cased another spell "Li-Levi-canto!" the precious gem fled to Emily's pocket. "Thank you so much dear nymph" Emily said thankfully.

Before they go, the nymph placed her hand on Emily's back "Please can you take me to your land, I'm so bored here, also, I know some planting skills, maybe I can teach your people some, and I want to make sure the Sun Stone is taken back to your place safely." The nymph said. "Sure! We've loved too!" Annie agreed with no hesitation.

After that, the three hold hands and joyfully made their way out of the temple. "Wow! I never saw this place before!" the nymph said, "How did you become the gem's guardian?" Annie asked curiously "Oh it's a long story!" the nymph replied. "Well it is a long journey back home, so you can walk and talk." Emily suggested "Sure! A long ago I lived in the Sun city when I got sent to a place..." the nymph started.

After a few days, they finally arrived to the village, "We're back everyone!" Annie shouted. "Auntie Annie's back!" a kid cried, "Auntie Emily is back too!" another kid cried "They even brought a new friend!" they all shouted. "Oh no I forgot to ask you, what's your name?" Emily asked the nymph "Sunny Searchlight but please just Sunny." the nymph cried.

After the celebration, they started to get to work, Annie called all the people from the village to the center of the village, Emily and Sunny started placing the Sun Stone at the EXACT spot. "A little bit to the right, no left no up. Yes perfect!" Sunny cried trying to guide Emily for placing the stone. After setting the Stone, all the people were here, they watched in excitement when they saw the sun rise for the first time.

After the celebration, Sunny taught the citizens how to grow ginger, sugar canes, lemon and more. She also taught them how to make a type of medicine made from ginger, cola and lemon that can cure colds.

Also because the sun stone was placed on the east, so the sun's on the east, but Emily suggest that the sun rises from the east and then sets on the west.

The people build a statue made of gold, sapphire and rubies to honor Sunny, Annie and Emily for their hard work, did the statue survived centuries later? Who knows! It's a legend...

Thank you for reading my book! hope you enjoyed!